

Nogues named Parker School's assistant headmaster

Parker School headmaster E. Van Gorder has announced the appointment of Mary-Allen Nogues as assistant headmaster of the private high school in Waimanalo on the Big Island.

Nogues, a Honolulu native, is a graduate of Hawaii Preparatory Academy, University of Hawaii-Manoa and the Sorbonne in France. She has been in the Parker faculty for eight years.

Van Gorder also announced the appointment of the school's senior teacher, Peter Radl, as the new dean of students. Radl, an Illinois native and graduate of Col College in Iowa, has been the school's basketball coach for several seasons. He previously taught at Hawaii Preparatory Academy and University of Iowa.

Priory award
Laimalama Wailea, Leoy, Oahu branch administrator for the state Department of Social Services and Housing, has been named Alanaia of

Farm
Teague

1987 at St. Andrew's Priory School. She is a member of the priory's board of trustees and the school's alumnae board.

Precision fliers
Hawaii's two representatives at the U.S. Precision Flight Team national competition next year will be Alan Farm and Barbara Teague.

Farm and Teague were the top fliers at the recent state competition at Dillingham Field. The backup pilot will be Navy Lt. Ed Phangas.

The three won all-time over four other entrants in a precision flying contest at Dillingham that included navigation and accuracy landings.

The U.S. Precision Flight Team program is sponsored by The Ninety-Nines Inc., an international organization of women pilots. The local center was arranged by the Aloha Chapter of the 99s.

Five pilots will be selected as the 1988 national competition as the U.S. entries in the 1989 international competition in Europe.

Meritorious exec
Kink Chung, chief of engineering for the Army Corps of Engineers' Pacific Ocean Division, has received the Presidential Rank Award of Meritorious Executive.

It was Chung's third Presidential Rank Award. He has received two meritorious awards and one distinguished award. He was named Engineer of the Year for 1986 by the Hawaii Society of Professional Engineers.

Dyslexic children sought for project

Dyslexic students and interested instructors who want to teach them are being sought for a summer demonstration program at the AHSATTS School.

Enrollment is limited and tuition will be charged for the teachers, who can earn six University of Hawaii credits in Continuing Education. Students in Grades 2, 3 and 4 who have average-to-superior learning capabilities but who are dyslexic are urged to apply. Tuition will be $125 per child.

The session, from 10 to 11:40 a.m., will run July 24 through Aug. 21. For more information, call the program coordinator, 425-1134.

Inter-island course set to start at UH

The University of Hawaii's first course to link students from different islands will get underway March 8.

The three-credit course will link students at the Parker School in Waimanalo and Hawaii Community College in Hilo with those at West Oahu and Kapapa Community colleges in Oahu.

The course, entitled "Professional Development in Statewide Telecommunications: an Introduction to Telecommunications Techniques," will give education and corporate officials a practical look at the equipment and techniques needed to create successful teletraining programs.

For more information or to register, contact the College of Continuing Education and Community Service, Sakamaki C-191, 2300 Dole St., Honolulu 96822. Resident tuition is $125 with a $20 lab and material fee.

1987 Spelling Bee

To help students prepare for the Advertiser's 1987 Spelling Bee, we offer this booklet of words, their spelling, meanings, and origins.

Academic (noun) is derived from the word "academic," an adjective meaning "scholarship, reputation and success." Academic originates from the ancient Greek word "akademeia," meaning "school," and originally referred to the self-directed study of scholars in the Academy in Athens. Today, the word is used to describe a person who is a very serious student, with few distractions or priorities.

Students from all over Hawaii are entering for the Advertiser's 1987 Spelling Bee. The contest will be held at the state capital at 7 p.m. April 11. It will be broadcast live on K2-DAB-TV. The Advertiser will send the grand prize to the winner, D.C. of the National Spelling Bee at West Oahu. (Hawaii's words are provided by Lawrence Institute of Technology and the Oxford, New York.)

Bringing Hawaii's people together.

Hawaiian Airlines opens West Maui again with the new Kapalua-West Maui Airport.

The strong human desire to see friends and visit family was achieved with difficulty in this land of islands.

Then, almost 60 years ago, Hawaiian Airlines changed all that by introducing interisland flight.

And now, we introduce the Kapalua-West Maui Airport.

This new airport offers the West Maui connection which, for the first time, brings the Neighbor Islands closer with frequent and convenient flights to all Hawaii's islands. And now both Kapalua and Kaunapali are just a short ten minutes from air service.

Opening West Maui again is part of our ongoing commitment to bring Hawaii's people together. Our spirit is unique. We are Hawaiian.
